FOREWORD

The Georgia Statistical Abstract, which is published biennially, brings together in one reference volume the most pertinent information available about the state of Georgia.

Although the orientation of the Abstract is chiefly economic--with special emphasis upon economic resources--other community and area resources are encompassed in the Government section and in the Education and the Vital Statistics and Health sections.

Special acknowledgement must be made of the efforts of the following persons who contributed to this major undertaking: Cris Forsthoff, data specialist; William Alred of the Georgia Department of Education; and typists Kathy Barber and Betty Futch.

Since most of the data in the Abstract are taken from sources outside the Division, the responsibility for the accuracy and limitations of the original data belongs to the original sources. For the selection of the data and their reproduction here, the Division of Research accepts the responsibility.

[b]In April 1973, the definitions of 5 SMSA's in Georgia were changed as part of a national revision of SMSA's. In all cases in Georgia, counties were added to the definition. This column contains the April 1970 populations of the counties in the newly defined SMSA's.

[a]The poverty income cutoff is a range of money incomes adjusted by family size, sex of the family head, and number of children under 18 years old. Allowance is also made for differences in the cost of farm and nonfarm living by setting the poverty thresholds for farm families at 85 percent of the corresponding levels for nonfarm families. Poverty thresholds are computed on a national basis only and revised annually to reflect changes in the Consumer Price Index. In 1969 poverty thresholds ranged from $1,487 to $6,116. The average poverty threshold for a nonfarm family of four headed by a male was $3,745.

[e]See Chart 21.201 for a map which shows the number of Representatives from each county or district.

[f]The 1945 and 1976 Constitutions abolished sub-county school districts except for existing independent (city) systems. There are 29 of these independent systems at present.

[g]Incorporated municipalities. U. S. Bureau of the Census, 1977 Census of Governments, Governmental Organizations, Georgia.

[h]The Census of Population, 1950, listed 1647 militia districts in Georgia. Neither the 1977 Census of Governments nor the 1970 Census of Population listed militia districts in the state.

[i]The Georgia Constitution provides that the General Assembly may abolish Justice of the Peace Courts within any city with a population of over 20,000 and throughout the county in any county having within its borders a city of over 20,000 population and may establish instead any court or courts it deems necessary. Under this provision, Justice of the Peace courts have been abolished entirely in Cobb, Chatham, Clarke, Dougherty, Glynn, and Muscogee counties, and also within the city limits of Atlanta and Augusta. A militia district may also have a Notary Public ex officio as Justice of the Peace to conduct a second Justice of the Peace Court where it is deemed necessary, appointed by the Judge of the Superior Court upon recommendation of the Grand Jury.
